Contents

Acknowledgements ................................................................. iv
Preface, by Tavengwa M. Nhongo ........................................ vii
Introduction ............................................................................. xiii

Rosario Arias Doblas
Moments of Ageing: The Reifungsroman in Contemporary Fiction ........... 3

Susan Ballyn
Nobody Prepares You for This: A Layperson’s Experience of Coping with Senile Dementia .................................................. 13

María José Carrillo Linares
What Thing is it that People most (Un)desire? A View on Chaucer’s
Portrayal of the Process of Aging ..................................................... 21

Teresa Gibert
The Aesthetics of Ageing in Margaret Atwood’s Fiction ....................... 31

Billy Gray
“That lucky the culture where the old can talk to the young and the young can talk to the old”: Narrative, Biology and Ageing in the Works of Doris Lessing ......................................................... 43

Carmen Lara Rallo
Female Ageing as a Thematic Link: Fictionalising Women’s Phases of Life in A.S. Byatt’s Sugar & Other Stories ........................ 51

Heather Leach
Crossing the Line ..................................................................... 63
Maria O’Neill
Sexuality and Ageing as Depicted in The Canterbury Tales:
Gender, Economics and Morality ................................................................. 73

Maricel Oró Piqueras
From Childhood to Old Age with a Sigh in Julian Barnes’s
Staring at the Sun .......................................................................................... 83

Evelyn Pezzulich
Breaking the Last Taboo: The Aging Female Protagonist in Literature ........ 91

Cynthia Port
“Money, for the night is coming”: Gendered Economies of Aging in the Early Novels of Jean Rhys .................................................................. 99

Aagje Swinnen
“Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the ‘smartest’ one of all?”
A Dynamic View of the Elderly Woman in the Reifungsroman:
Case Study of Monika van Paemel’s The Cursed Fathers (1985) .............. 117

Carmen Zamorano Llena
‘Words we can grow old and die in’: Female Reconstructions of the Irish Literary Idiom in Eavan Boland’s Later Poetry .................................... 127

Notes on contributors .................................................................................. 139